Information

Variation(s)

Viroledo[1]

Type

City

Country

Nilfgaardian Empire

Appearance(s)

Viroleda is a city somewhere in Nilfgaard known for its swordsmen and high quality swordmaking.[2]
The city developed a particular style of sword fighting called Viroledan Naev'de Feaine Glaeddyv used when facing multiple opponents. Viroledan masters of this style were said to be able to fight nine opponents simultaneously.[1]

Notes

- Geralt once received a fake Viroledan sword from Dandelion, though the bard did not realize it was a fake. Pinety had a real sword from Viroleda, which he later gave to the witcher.

- Every sword from Viroleda has their famous motto engraved on the blade: "Draw me not without reason; sheath me not without honour".

Trivia

It is quite possibly inspired by the historical Spanish city of Toledo.
